

The FCC is allowing Verizon and other corporations to postpone the enactment of a policy that would allow capitalism to have a hand in the cell phone market. Allow us to change from land lines to cell phones and keep the same numbers. Make the market competitive. This is what Verizon is worried about. The consumers are watching and unfortunately, still waiting.